Visitors can escape the hustle and bustle of city life at this unique park. It is a great place for birdwatching, leisurely walks and observing nature.

A trail system leads you through open grasslands, beside a wetland and past four welded steel, modernist, sculptures donated from the collection of the Hobart Welding Institute. The sculptures are placed in distinct habitats throughout the park to highlight the relationship between nature and art.